

Willow Technologies announces distribution with LSIS for EV relays

Willow Technologies and sister company, American Electronic Components, has announced a North American and European distribution agreement with LS Industrial Systems (LSIS).

The Korean company specialises in electricity switching and control. The portfolio includes high voltage DC contactors for electric vehicles (EVs) which complement Willow's Durakool automotive relays. There is also the LSIS EP series of HVDC photovoltaic contactors for solar energy applications.

<http://www.willow.co.uk>

By softei | Industry News | Comments Off on Willow Technologies announces distribution with LSIS for EV relays
